When my friend learned that I had hearing loss, he casually remarked, "You should try 'Hearing Solution'. They are very professional.

Indeed they are. Since then I have got my hearing aid and have made four separate trips to fine tune it in order to derive maximum benefit from the product.

What I particularly like is the feeling that there is no rush to get things over with, like buying and selling.

At each visit, I got to know more about the product. Oh yes, I was recommended a system that is most appropriate for my need and not one based on my ability to pay.

Little tips like "Don't forget to remove your hearing aid before you turn on the shower" goes a long way towards prolonging the life of the hearing aid.

Best of all, I now find life so much more interesting and exciting as I can now hear and so enjoy the laughter and chatter of my six grandchildren!
